MAN KICKED BY HORSE AT FIRE DIES

Ray Crow of State Colony Succumbs to Injury to Head

Ray Crow, working patient at the Dixon state hospital, who was employed at the No. 1 farm, died at the institution hospital this morning at 6:30, his death being due to a fractured skull, which injury he sustained Sunday morning while assisting in removing 19 head of work horses from the burning barn. The left side of his head was crushed and the brain injured in the accident.

He was hurried to the institution hospital immediately following the accident where an operation was performed, but the injury was of such a character that the attending physicians entertained little hope for his recovery and he passed away this morning without having regained consciousness.

Coroner Frank M. Bunker conducted an inquest over the remains at the Staples mortuary this morning at 10 o'clock, the jury returning a verdict finding that death was due to the fractured skull. The body will be sent to Crystal Lake for burial. Crow had been a patient in the Lincoln and Dixon institutions since 1912, and was transferred here in 1919. He was about 45 years of age.

SEARCH ICEBERGS OFF GREENLAND FOR LOST FLIERS

U. S. Patrol Boat Sent to Inspect Ice Formations

Washington, Aug. 29.—(AP)—On the chance that the Greater Rockford search heard may have landed on an ice berg off the southwestern coast of Greenland, instructions have been sent from the coast guard offices here to the patrol boat Marion now in that vicinity to inspect the ice formations.

The Marion has been charting ice conditions and making meteorological observations in the northern waters, and has been participating in the search for the Greater Rockford and its crew. The iceberg is said to be approximately five miles long and its position has been given to the Marion by radio operators in that region.

Persons contemplating trans-oceanic flights were urged today by Captain S. G. Hooper, director of naval communications, to give serious consideration to the type of radio apparatus to be carried on their planes.

Captain Hooper recommended sets capable of transmitting on the distress frequency of 500 kilocycles or 600 meters because direction finders or radio compasses in use cannot be used to take bearings on high frequency or short wave transmission.

The "Greater Rockford" carried a high frequency set, and although the range of signals was greater than intermediate frequency and the apparatus gave an interesting account of itself, the many radio stations along the Canadian and Greenland coasts could not obtain the plane's radio bearings, he said.

Captain Hooper said that the navy department had followed closely the various trans-oceanic flights and the radio frequency used adding that it had observed that the planes equipped with an intermediate wave length had obtained better communication throughout.

DISCREDIT REPORT

Copenhagen, Denmark, August 29.—Reports that the noise of an airplane had been heard at Akigase-mist, 250 miles north east of where the machine of Bert Hassel and Parker Cramer was seen on August 19, aroused interest among local experts in Greenland geography and conditions. At least one of them, Peter Freuchen, was inclined to discount the report.

"A glance at the map," he said, "is sufficient to cast serious doubt on the report, in that latitude and at this season, a plane could not be heard without being seen."

"Anyway, it is doubtful if the good people there have ever heard the sound of an airplane. Furthermore Eskimo rumors should always be received cautiously."

Mr. Freuchen said he was glad to learn that the Danish explorer Knud Masmussen was searching the fjords in the neighborhood where the Greater Rockford was seen ten days ago. He said that this meant that capable work was being done in that vicinity.

GEO. HOWARD DEAD

New York, August 29.—(AP)—George W. Howard, leading man for years to many great American actresses, is dead.

He died in Columbus hospital after amputation of his right leg. He had been suffering for some time from septic poisoning.

BULLETIN

Toronto, Aug. 29—(AP)—Miss Ethel Hertle of New York won the Wrigley ten mile swim for women on Lake Ontario this afternoon.

To Miss Hertle went the $10,000 first prize. She led throughout the entire distance, successfully fighting off a stirring bid by Miss Olive Gatterdam of Seattle. Wash. Miss Hertle covered 14 miles in the Wrigley endurance swim last year.

Miss Gatterdam finished second. Thrashing the water with a tireless crawl, Miss Hertle swept into the breakwater 220 yards ahead of her nearest rival, Miss Gatterdam, and sliced ahead faster and faster over the last five-eighths of mile to the finish line.

Miss Gatterdam, finishing second, gained a $3,000 prize. The other awards were $1,000 for third place, $600 for fourth; and $400 for fifth.

The first five finishers are entitled to enter the race with the men competitors for the championship of the world next Wednesday over a 15-mile course.

The next nearest contenders were a mile behind Miss Hertle and Miss Gatterdam. At the start of the final drive for the finish Ruth Tower of Denver, Colo., clung to third place, and Gertrude Ederle of New York was fourth, several hundred yards farther to the rear. Jane Thoms of Terre Haute, Ind., was only thirty yards behind the English Channel swimmer and was threatening Trudy's chances for fourth prize money.

Following close on Miss Hertle's flashing heels was Olive Gatterdam of Seattle, Wash. Third was Ruth Dower, Denver, Colo., and then came Gertrude Ederle of New York.

May Elwell to Revere, Mass., was fifth, just a few yards behind Trudy, and Jane Thoms of Terre Haute, Ind., waded into sixth place.

Miss —— had gained over Anna Benoit of Westfield, Mass., who was seventh. Miss Euphasia Donnelly, Indianapolis, was eighth. United States entrants monopolizing the lead.

Short Interviews with Famous Women

By NEA Service

"A co-educational college is the ideal institution for both men and women, if the students are well-bred and keenly interested in their work," declared Mrs. Frances Bradshaw Eiansard, dean of women at Swarthmore College.

"In enthusiastic, strenuous study, each group of young men and women finds the difference between their minds not a distraction but a stimulus."

"Students in a co-educational college are more sensitive to 'human relations,' more mature, less likely to be unconventional than the undergraduates in separate colleges for men and women."

"They understand each other, take each other for granted and leave college prepared to fit naturally into the conditions of business and the professions where successful men and pact marks beginning of consciousness that war is a crime."

WHAT IS IT? Now I happen to know that no children are better cared for and planned for and assumed as serious responsibilities than the children of the two friends who laugh at the old-fashioned sentimental "motherhood viewpoint." What does this reaction mean? It is a pose attune with an age which belittles pure emotion? Is it honest evidence that all the to-do about motherhood's wonder was pretty much bunk manufactured by women in an age when motherhood and her only job and interest had to be inflated to tremendous proportions? Do you know, I find the new viewpoint awfully refreshing!

Railroads, when asked why they provide no smoking or club car for women, explain that they have tried again and again to give women this convenience, but, finding that it is never used, utilize the space for more necessary conveniences. Women just won't get "clubby." They have lived in the cave too long.

Porto Rican Women Ask Suffrage Right

Washington (AP)—Two black-haired, brown-eyed young women are storming the halls of congress these days in the interests of a movement to obtain suffrage for the women of their country.

Dr. Marta Robert, one of the seven practicing women physicians of the island and the head of a large maternity hospital in San Juan, declares the entire feminine population of her country is bent on obtaining the vote. She and Miss Rosa Emanuelli have been sent by the suffrage associations of San Juan to speak at committee hearings on the proposed house bill giving suffrage to Porto Rican women.

"We are all American citizens," Dr. Robert says. "But the men can vote and we cannot. When we women come to the United States we have only to live here six months and we are entitled to vote, but all our lives we could stay in Porto Rico and never be allowed to express our choice for public officers."

The suffrage association of which the two are active members has modeled its campaign for the vote upon that carried on by the women of the United States before the suffrage amendment was voted.

While in Washington the women are guests of the National Women's Party, the organization that is sponsoring their lobbying.

Miss Emanuelli is secretary to a Porto Rican importer in New York.

The bill in which they are interested was introduced in the House by Senator Hiram Bingham of Connecticut. It provides for the amendment of the act of 1917, providing civil government for Porto Rico, and enlarges the scope of suffrage to include women.

THE CALL OF SCHOOL BELL

Next week the stirring call of the school bell will be heard in our land. It is interesting to consider the magnitude, importance and variety of activities started in Illinois by the school bell.

About 1,360,000 children will march to school in nearly 12,000 different school districts. The enrollment of pupils will vary in these districts from about a half-million in the one district of Chicago to one pupil each in a few country districts.

About 80 per cent or over a million of these pupils will enroll in the elementary grades, from the kindergarten to the eighth grade. Most of these will receive excellent instruction by trained and qualified teachers, but some of them unfortunately will have young, untrained and inexperienced teachers.

The remaining 20 per cent, or about 272,000 pupils, will enroll in the high schools. Most of these high schools are credited by the University of Illinois and the North Central Association of Colleges, but too many of them fail to meet the Standard set for accrediting. Therefore, their graduates will have very unequal qualifications for entering colleges and universities.

This multitude of youth will be taught by over 45,000 teachers who will be paid about $75,000,000, or an average of about $1,600 each for the year's work. However, these salaries will have a wide variation say from about $300 to $15,000 or more.

The children will average about 9 months or 190 days in school in the year just beginning. But here again there will be great inequalities; for some children will be liberally provided with 10 months or about 200 days, while other will have only 7 months or about 150 days.

Great is this institution, the public school! But it would be greater if it gave our children more nearly equal opportunities for education. Our Supreme Court has said that boards of Education are created to levy a tax for the purpose of providing a State-wide system of thorough and efficient schools and these taxes are public property in the hands of State agents for that purpose. The great inequalities of educational opportunity in our State are not considered with this principle.

QUESTION: Mrs. A. G. S. writes:

"Please advise me what to do with a child that holds its breath till it is black in the face and lifeless. What causes this condition?"

ANSWER: When a child cries so hard that it holds its breath for a long period of time it is usually because it suffers from periodic attacks of indigestion due to wrong feeding. He is frantic to tell you about it, and probably loses his temper because he cannot properly express himself. The shock from the application of a cold towel over the body is a good cure for this habit.

SIDE LIGHTS ON THE KANSAS CITY CONVENTION AS SEEN BY DIXONITE

Those of you who have read Emily Newell Blair's concise account of the late Republican Convention in the September number of Good Housekeeping can get the politicians viewpoint of that interesting and mammoth affair. While she is a good Democrat she is broad enough to give her opponents all due credit.

I had the extreme pleasure of attending three sessions; my girls were fortunate enough to be presented with eleven guest tickets, and when I say that tickets were selling at the rate of five to fifty dollars each you can readily see how fortunate we were. Thanks were due to delegates from Illinois, Pennsylvania and California.

To get through the crowd in order to enter Convention Hall was a task for a Dempsey, and by the time I had reached the right entrance I was a physical wreck. To make matters worse I was jammed in by a determined gate crasher, whose arguments were finally silenced by two minors of the law who led him urgently toward the seats. When I at last reached the seat assigned to me, I took a long breath, got my bearings and began to take in the vast panorama, representing every state in the Union and all of our possessions with the exception of the Virgin Islands. We may have had delegates from there but I failed to see them.

The western states that lie west of the Mississippi, beginning with California were at the left of the speakers stand, with the exception of Texas which for some reason or other was placed with those states east of the river. The other states were in front and to the right. Porto Rico with its four colored representatives sat with these, while Alaska, the Philippines and Hawaii had seats to the left of the western states.

I sat in the gallery facing the speaker's desk and it was an inspiring sight to see the standards of forty-eight states and those of our foreign possession confronting me.

Among the southern delegates I was surprised to see so many colored men—and that they knew their politics was evidenced when a vote on the application of the Texas primary law was called for. Each state had a chairman who responded for the delegates, but when it came to Florida's vote, a colored delegate objected to the response of the chairman and asked for an individual vote on the question, which was granted. It made a slight difference but enough to show that the chairman had not stated the correct vote. And right here is when I first had the extreme pleasure of listening to that marvel of woman, Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, Assistant Attorney General of the United States. With a voice like a bell, clear and distinct in tone, so that you heard every word, she carried the issue of that argument on the contest from Texas involving an interpretation and application of the Texas primary law and her argument won. For the benefit of those who have not heard the story of this young woman, still in her thirties and who has reached a pinnacle in law, such as no proud of it Mrs. Willebrandt. But there is this much in favor of Mrs. McCormick, she is the choice of the Republican people of Illinois for Representative, while Mrs. Willebrandt received her office by appointment; make your own deductions.

Mrs. McCormick inherits her father's ability in politics. Everybody knows that he was the power that put McKinley in the presidential chair, and if Mark Hanna were alive today his hand would be seen in any convention.

Among those present I saw young Theodore Roosevelt, parading up and down the aisles creating not much of a sensation, not nearly so much as sister Alice and her big tapestry bag that would have held a flapper's wardrobe. Young Roosevelt lacks his father's pugnacity. Strange as it may seem few great men produce great sons. Oftentimes the girls inherit what is not given to the male issue. In the case of young LaFollette, he is the exception to the rule.

While it is not anything to brag about, yet it is nice to think that one of your girls had the pleasure or honor if you want to call it that, of sitting in Andrew Mellon's box the night that Hoover was nominated. There she met Mr. Mellon's nephew and his private secretary, also Mr. Howard Heinz the well advertised pickle man. As a trophy she brought away with her a Pennsylvania delegates badge, something to hand down to posterity.

Although the nomination of Hoover could have been settled the first day of the convention, the sessions had to be carried on with this and the other thing, platforms, etc., because the convention committee had promised the Kansas City people that they would stay the five days it would take to reimburse the city somewhat for the expense it had gone to in entertaining such a crowd.

Mr. Borah was also a great speaker, but did not receive the enthusiastic greeting that was given when Mr. Hoover was nominated. Another young man, who like his esteemed father has the courage of his convictions and is not afraid to express them even in the face of great opposition.

While I was disappointed in the outcome of the convention, so said as Mr. Lowden was concerned, still I would not have missed it for anything as it is something to look back upon in the years to come.

As I was milling my way through the crowd the last night of the convention, I heard a big Irishman say to his companion, "Well, begob, they've nominated Hoover, now if the Dummverats nominate Al Smith, it will be a fight between King George and the Pope, with odds on the Pope."

JOHN WALKER SAYS INCOME TAX WOULD SOLVE TAX FAULTS

Labor Federation President Contributes Article on Tax Ills

Herewith is the fourth of a series of articles in which officials of statewide organizations present, through The Associated Press their versions of "What's Wrong With Taxation in Illinois?"

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—The "crying need" of the Illinois system of public revenue, in the opinion of John H. Walker, president of the Illinois Federation of Labor, is a graduated income tax, designed to reach that elusive portion of the state's financial structure known as "intangible property."

He believes that such a tax would result in those being best able to pay—and who are getting most out of the resources of the state—paying their proportionate share in the cost of government.

President Walker declared the major defect in the present taxation system is "the failure to assess a proper value and collect taxes upon intangible property."

"I have heard men who are ordinarily honest" he said, and who were officers of this state—senators and representatives, besides special representatives of different very respectable organizations, state frankly and unqualifiedly that a man would be a fool to report his present intangible property to the assessor and pay the same rate of taxes upon it that he pays on real property.

"On all intangible property, stocks, bonds, mortgages, bank deposits, etc., on which no money is being collected—in some instances not only no interest or dividends being received from it, but assessments being paid upon it, it would not seem fair to require that the regular real property tax rate to be paid on it.

But there should be a tax on it where it is earning, or could obviously earn money."

"However, every person to whom I have spoken who is informed on this matter, and who appears to be honest, feels that some modification of the law should be made which applies to real property for purposes of taxing intangible wealth, so that no injustice would be done to those owning intangible wealth, and so that it would be fair to the other tax payers and could be enforced."

"Another defect that those on all sides interested in this matter agree should be rectified, is the faulty system under which tax assessments are made and collected on real property.

It is admitted that not only are mistakes made that result in injustice being done, but dishonest assessors and collectors operate to impose larger taxes on some than should be assessed and collected, and on the other hand, give practical exemption from payment of taxes at all to others in cases involving hundreds of thousands and millions of dollars worth of property.

"I think that to establish a graduated income tax which would result in those who are best able to pay and who are getting most out of the resources of the state, paying their proportionate share of the cost of operation of our state institutions, would be substantial improvement."

"They would then pay not only in proportion to their ability but also in proportion to the service and protection they were getting from the state with reference to their income and is sources (their larger property interest)."

MRS. RICHARDSON

Mrs. Minnie Susan Richardson, of this city, whose funeral was held at the Presbyterian church yesterday afternoon, was born in Nelson Township on March 19, 1884, the daughter of W. W. and Margaret she grew to young womanhood, and in 1902 was graduated from the Dixon High School.

In 1909 she was united in marriage to N. F. Richardson of this city, and to this union were born three children, Helen, Eloise and Winnifred, who, with her husband survive her. She also leaves, besides her parents, her sister, Mrs. Florence Balman of Nelson township, and her brother Alvin Hardin of that place. After a very brief illness she passed away at her home in this city on August 27th.

Mrs. Richardson's passing was a sad shock to those who knew her. She was indeed a woman of gentle character, home loving, modest in demeanor, a kind neighbor, a true wife and mother. She will be sorely missed by those who had the privilege of knowing her lovable qualities. The esteem in which she was held was evidenced by the large number of friends who united in paying their last sad respects at the service and in the large number of floral tributes.

WATCH OUT FOR THE FORKY!

When you go camping this summer, protect your ax handle, your canoe paddle, shoes, knapsacks and all leather or wooden objects which come in contact with human hands from the ravages of the porcupine by putting them away at night out of the reach of this pesky little animal, otherwise you will likely find some of your essential equipment well gnawed in the morning. The reason the porcupines gnaw on these things is to get the slight amount of salt which is left there from perspiration.

"My plans for the future will consist of selling more hogs, tending to my babies and the farm. I don't care to be enticed away by movie producers. The farm's my vocation, occupation and future. I love it."

Mrs. Phipps has a high school education, and some preparatory work in a Normal school. She takes part in many home talent pageants and plays, and is an active spirit in her community.

CHAMP WOMAN HOG CALLER SUGGESTS YOU BE YOURSELF

Says Flappers Could Improve Selves By Living on the Farm

Springfield, Ill., Aug. 29.—(AP)—"Be yourself" is the suggestion Daisy Phipps, 27, Illinois Hog calling champion gave to other women, when she defeated Guy Bender, national champion in the finals of that event at the Illinois State Fair here.

Mrs. Phipps, the mother of two sons, plans to enter national competition if "it isn't too far from home."

With her husband, Mrs. Phipps, assists in the care of an 80 acre farm, devoted almost entirely to raising of Poland China pedigree hogs.

She entered the Hog calling contest "just for fun" and was "surprised" to learn of her award. She explained that she was assisting her husband in caring for their entries in the swine show.

Mrs. Phipps has lived on a farm all her life. She does her own housework and laundry. She works in the fields during the summer, and aids her husband in chores.

"We've never had a hired man or woman," she exclaimed.

Asked if the work wasn't a bit difficult, she replied, "It's clean and out in the open. If more flappers would take up a farm wife's duties it would be a cleaner world morally."

"I don't mean that the average girl's morals today are bad, but their improvement would be noted, if they were to spend their time on a farm."

"I use paint and powder, but very little. Sunshine is the best beauty secret I possess."

"Calling hogs hasn't been a particular hobby of mine, but just a daily routine. I didn't mind the crowds at all. I would like very much to enter the national competition if it isn't too far from home."

"My plans for the future will consist of selling more hogs, tending to my babies and the farm. I don't care to be enticed away by movie producers. The farm's my vocation, occupation and future. I love it."

Mrs. Phipps has a high school education, and some preparatory work in a Normal school. She takes part in many home talent pageants and plays, and is an active spirit in her community.

Now Tremendous Reductions

Make Firestone Built Tires the Greatest Values in History

These new low prices are made possible by Firestone's victorious fight against the crude rubber monopoly.

COOLIDGE TO CUT EXPENSES TO AID TREASURY DEFICIT

Will Ask Drastic Savings In All Departments Of Government

Superior, Wis., August 28.—(AP)—Concerned by estimates compiled by the bureau of the budget, forecasting a treasury deficit of $94,000,000 at the end of the current fiscal year, President Coolidge intends as soon as he gets back to Washington to take vigorous measures to cut down expenses.

He will appeal to this end to the heads of all departments and government bureaus and thereby hopes to reduce materially the estimated deficit.

Likelihood of a deficit at the end of the present year will probably affect budget estimates now being compiled for the fiscal year 1930.

During his stay at the summer White House over the week-end, Major Gen. Charles P. Summerall, Chief of Staff, reported very satisfactory conditions in the army to President Coolidge. Enlistments, he said, were abundant and provided a good class of recruits. Plentiful and enthusiastic attendance at summer training camps was also reported.

Fears For Panama

Gen. Summerall plead with the chief executive, however, for a strengthening of the aviation defense at the Panama canal. President Coolidge thinks it would be feasible to do this, under the five year aviation program authorized by congress in 1926.

Secretary of State Kellogg has advised President Coolidge that Latin-American diplomatic representatives in Washington have signified the intention of their countries to adhere to the anti-war treaty signed yesterday in Paris.

Secretary West of the Interior department, after an overnight stay at the summer White House, said today that he had not been able to give President Coolidge detailed information regarding progress on the engineering features of the Boulder Dam project, now being prepared by a board of experts. This report, he said, was a "herculean task" which would require several months yet to complete.

In his annual report to the President which he is now preparing Secretary West will recommend the construction of a dam on the Colorado river, provided only that a feasible plan for its construction can be devised.

Sees Hoover Victory

After conferring with President Coolidge, Secretary West said: "Things are going fine as far as the campaign of Herbert Hoover are concerned. The latter, he thought, was making headway every day, while Gov. Smith at present 'at the crest of the wave' would rapidly, in his opinion, lose popularity with the electors. Illinois, he said, would be carried by Hoover by a very large majority.

COMPTON NEWS

Compton—Compton grade school rooms made a fine showing with the exhibit displayed at this year's Lee county fair, held at Ambioy. The entire exhibit was awarded thirty-two firsts and twenty-seven second prizes netting $118.60 in money to the three rooms, taught by Mrs. Emma Fox, Mrs. Zelma Swope and Miss Ruth Card. Last year's awards from the county fair netted $51.50. Spurred on by this the three teachers enlarged their work during the past year, by holding special classes on Friday afternoons; they were able to produce an exhibit that was awarded the largest check in the county. Much credit is due to our teaching staff for their ability and extra efforts for the fine school work carried on here.

C. L. Ogilvie and family have returned from Middletown after spending the week there with his mother. He also attended a homecoming celebration at the school house where his extra school days were spent.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Moore and children have returned to Chicago after a week's vacation here with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Arlo Gilmore and daughter, Mrs. Lloyd McDougal and husband attended the State Fair at Springfield during Thursday and Friday of last week.

A. H. Feger, a member of the engineering staff on the new highway under construction here, has left during the week for Byron, where he will have charge of the building of a highway near there.

Mr. and Mrs. Golmon Eldredge and children have been visiting during the past week at their home in Paris, Ill.

Miss Elvyn Gilmore has as her guest for the week, Miss Viola Kromholz of Forrest Park.

Otis Thompson and family of La Grange were here Wednesday and made a short stay with his mother, Mrs. Sarah Thompson.

T. Hindrix, successor of J. S. Archer, will continue to sell the entire stock, by holding a closing out sale. In about another week he will dispose of the remaining stock by holding an auction.

This week finds the village connected with Mendota by a cement highway. By the latter part of the week the strip out north to the old Chicago road should be completed. All culverts and bridges except the Willow Creek and Bureau are finished, making us feel assured that we will be able to drive straight through either way when the last load of material is poured.

Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Eddy motored to Belvidere over Sunday.

ALL OVER THIS SECTION PEOPLE PRAISE GLY-CAS

Resident, Near Dixon, Says Relief of Stomach, Bowel Troubles Almost Unbelievable

Not only in Dixon, but in Amboy, Polo, Rochelle, Franklin Grove, Compton, Ashton and other surrounding towns and on rural routes, hundreds of men and women, suffers from stomach, liver, bowel, blood, nervous troubles, rheumatism, neuritis, for years, are taking this great new vegetable compound, Gly-Cas at the Campbell White Cross Pharmacy, Dixon, and telling remarkable stories of the relief this surprising medicine has given them. For example, just recently, in a conversation with the Gly-Cas man, Mr. Joshua Hoyle, R. R. No. 1, Dixon, made the following statement:

"About a year ago I began having trouble with my stomach and bowels," Mr. Hoyle said, "and my condition seemed to keep growing worse as prescribed treatments and other medicines did me no good."

"My bowels were all disordered," he continued. "For three or four days there would be no action and then I would become bilious and have terrible dizzy spells. The acid condition of my stomach a trouble with me, too, and, as I said, although I was taking different treatments, my health did not improve—in fact, it seemed to be getting worse."

"About this time, so many of my friends began to recommend this Gly-Cas to me and I finally came to the decision to try your medicine. Since I have used it, the least I can say of Gly-Mas is that it is a wonderful preparation for the bowels. Where everything else had failed, Gly-Cas has benefited me. For the first time in a year my bowels are regulated and the poisons that once were all through my system have consequently been eliminated."

"Gly-Cas has also proved excellent for my stomach trouble, correcting the acid condition of my stomach so that now I am able to eat foods that I surely couldn't take before. All in all, it is almost unbelievable what this Gly-Cas has done for me and I certainly have nothing but praise for this medicine."

"I feel that people who are suffering from stomach and bowel troubles owe it to themselves to give this Gly-Cas a trial."

"First my husband—and now my daughter, Oh, God. God . . ."

"It was Craig who took her away, and coaxed her, presently, to take a drink of brandy herself. Tad was sobbing like a baby."

"He leaned against the garden wall, still holding her to him, so that she seemed to get comfort from his quiet, strong body. In a few minutes she grew still, and only her limbs trembled, and her breath came in sobbing sobs.

"Probably Sybil won't want to be a bridesmaid, but I thought I might have a maid of honor, anyhow. A wedding without ANY attendants is dreadfully hard to realize. I remember when my Aunt Emma died it was like that. Such a shock, though we really ought to have been prepared. Did your poor father know? It's so complicated afterward if they don't have time to make a will. When Uncle Robert died, there was such a lot of trouble. Aunt Mary brought suit, and the lawyers got it all. Even cent. But, my goodness, of course there won't be any trouble in your family."

"I suppose you'll all get a third. I always thought it was awfully unfair for the widow to have two daughters. And then, if there's a daughter, she seems to get all that's left. But Sybil wouldn't be like that, of course. She would want you to have your share, I know. She's so broadminded, and then she works, too. Business women love to be self-supporting, I've noticed. I wonder if you'd love me any more, Tad, if I knew more about business. I'm awfully dumb about figures and things. Mother says I never did realize the value of money, and Daddy says you'd think it grew on bushes the way I spend it. But then, that's the way they brought me up. I tell Daddy he has only himself to blame."

"Irrelevantly Craig thought of ashes. Ashes of desire, of youth, and beauty. Nothing left of them, but a little old woman, anguish.

Watching the Big Scoreboard

BY HERBERT W. BARKER

Associated Press Sports Writer
It's a dog fight for runner-up position in the National League. A small blanket would suffice to cover the Giants, Cubs, Reds and Pirates who are battling fiercely to catch the St. Louis Cardinals before Bill McKechnie gets his crew too far away.

Six per centage points—or a half game—divide the Giants, present occupants of second place, from the Reds and the Pirates who are tied for fourth position. The Cubs, according to one way reckoning, are all even with the Giants, having won four more games and lost four more than the Clan McGraw, but they rank no higher than third in per centage.
